

Why Choose Jayda Wood?

With a long family history and residence in the valley, Jayda is a scrupulous agent who makes sure that every possible detail of a property is discovered and revealed. Her almost 20 years selling real estate gives her a wide range of local knowledge that comes in very handy when working with even the most complicated country properties. With focus and determination, she has been known to research and settle many uncommon findings that have come her way over the years.

Her buyers can expect to know every detail of their new purchase, both big and small. With a protective inclination, her clients can be assured that her main focus is to have all the stones unturned for full transparency of your purchase.
